

Being Ready if the Money Comes

Pat Stanton
Director of Policy
E4TheFuture

October 14, 2021

ENERGY

Promoting clean, efficient, safe solutions

ECONOMY

Growing a prosperous, low-carbon economy into the 22nd century

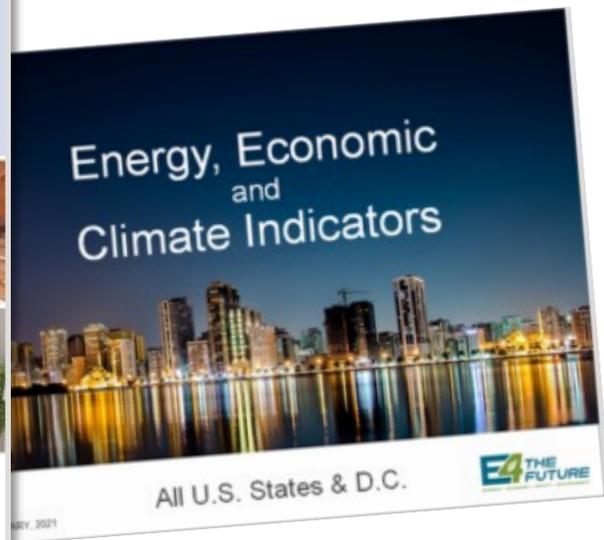

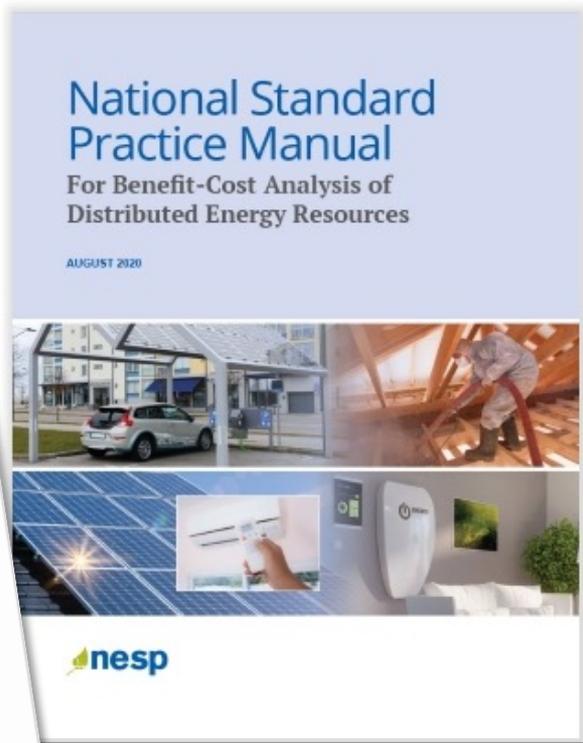

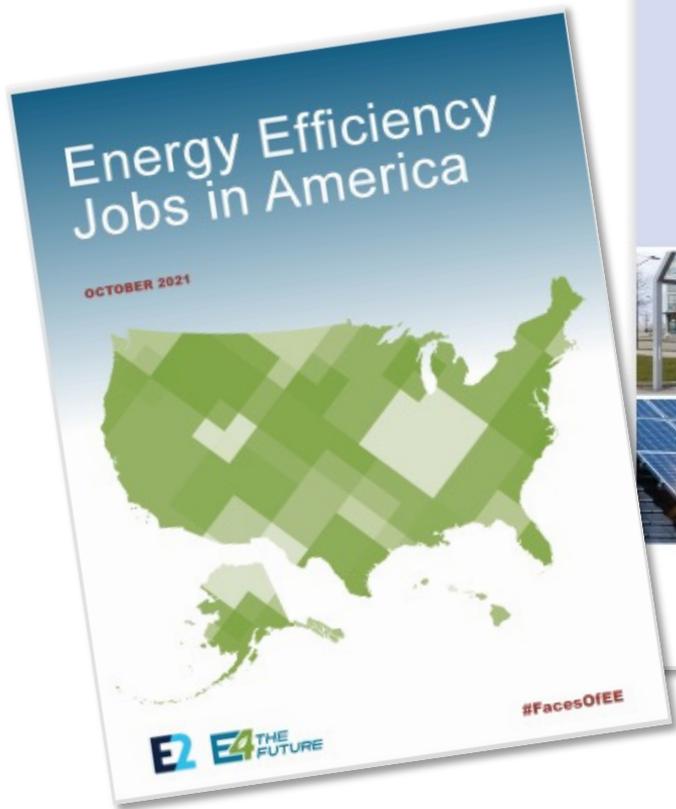

EQUITY

Empowering all Americans to run their homes with clean, efficient, affordable energy

ENVIRONMENT

Restoring healthy air, water and land

Bridging the Gap

New Federal Funding

Inadequate
funding

Successful projects

Creating Structure to Navigate Chaos

Virtual Briefings

- Where is the money
 - What is going through DOE
 - Who controls it
- What's up outside DOE
 - Implications for energy
 - Opportunities for collaboration (Education, Agriculture, FEMA)
- Rules of the Game:
 - Davis Bacon, Buy American, Justice40

Advisory Committees

- Grant compliance options & strategies
- Model programs based on experience in one or more states

Working Groups

- Building Codes Competitive Procurement
- Collaborating for best outcomes in schools (energy and education teams)

It is better to be ready...

Contact:

Pat Stanton

pstanton@e4thefuture.org